

There are two species native to the southeast. Several Asian species are planted in zones 5-8.